

Why Should You Complete Your Associates at Harcum College Prior To Transferring?

There are benefits to completing your associate's degree prior to transferring to a four-year college. Consider these advantages:

- You will have a degree completed in case life situations delay your progress in completing your bachelor's degree. Otherwise, you will have an incomplete major AND a bill. Sometimes, smaller steps are better.
- An Associate's degree could allow you to get a job where the employer will help pay for your education. Also, if it is a major-related employer, you may have a better chance of being promoted within.
- Depending on your G.P.A., some colleges offer a Transfer Scholarship if you completed your associate's degree.
- Articulation Agreements and Dual Enrollment Agreements with area colleges will provide you with an edge in completing your education (possibly sooner) and/or smoother transition.
- Only your educational transcripts will be needed. Depending on the number of credits of an incomplete associate's degree, you may need to submit your SAT scores.
- Classes at Harcum College are small. This allows you to focus on developing stronger education skills for success on a larger campus. Small classes mean you have an opportunity for more 1:1 help!
